

MEGACONFERENCE

III

Speakers and audiences from hundreds of universities, organizations and institutions worldwide will join Megaconference III Oct. 3, interactively during the Fall 2001 Internet2 Virtual Member Meeting. This Virtual Meeting is being held in place of the originally scheduled meeting in Austin, which was canceled because of the terrorist attack on the World Trade Center. Megaconference III will now be based out of OARnet and the Ohio State University, and will consist of a series of live presentations by researchers and authors from around the world, all brought to you interactively over the Internet using the H.323 videoconferencing technology.

Countries participating in the Megaconference III include: United States, England, Germany, Netherlands, Chile, Egypt, China, Taiwan, Thailand, Greece, Italy, Spain, Ireland, Finland, Canada, Poland, Czech Republic, Norway, and Scotland. The Megaconference will be sent out via streaming video in addition to H.323, for non-interactive viewers. From past experience, we know that participation at a given location ranges from a single person, to a few people, to several locations, and even to auditoriums of people.
